INTRODUCTION

Over the past several decades, community expectations for the openness and integrity of government have changed substantially, resulting in increasing public and regulatory scrutiny of government decisions and actions.

The Local Government Act (1995) (the Act) and Local Government (Administration) Regulations 1996 (the Regulations) require me to prepare and implement a Code of Conduct for employees. Council Members have their own separate Code of Conduct.

I am committed to the Town continuing to act in the best interests of its community, maintaining the highest level of integrity, governance and transparency.

This Code has been prepared to assist you to understand the standards of conduct and behaviour the Town expects of you in carrying out your role at the Town.

You must always act in accordance with the requirements of this Code and all Town policies and procedures. The Code applies to every interaction that you have including those with other employees, contractors, volunteers, committee members, Council Member, ratepayers and any member of the community. Your behaviour must at all times reflect the Town's values of Respect, Integrity, Quality Communication, Customer Service and Excellence. These values and what they mean are explained in detail below.

Please be aware that examples in this Code may not cover all situations. You should use your judgement in each situation. If you are uncertain, you should reach out and ask your direct supervisor.

INTERACTION BETWEEN EMPLOYEES AND COUNCIL

At the Town, the CEO is the only employee employed directly by the Council and the only member of administration permitted to communicate and meet with Council Members.

The CEO acts as a conduit between the Council members and employees.

You are not permitted to contact a Council Member during or outside of your work hours. This includes discussing:

- Ordinary Council Meeting agenda items.
- Your role including your responsibilities, your workload, your remuneration.
- Other employees.
- Anything related to committees or working groups.
- Contact with ratepayers.
- Suggestions or recommendations.
- Grievance or concerns.

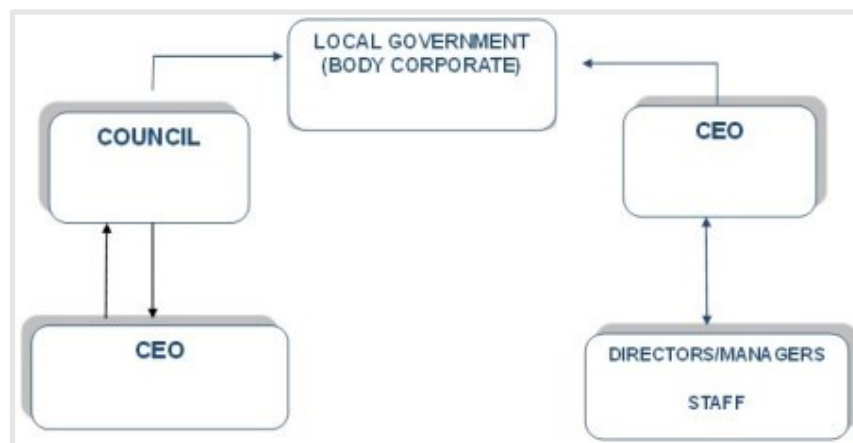

Likewise, a Council Member is not permitted to contact you directly. Any involvement by a Council Member in administration or contact directly with an employee is likely to be a breach of the Council Member Code.

Council Members do not have the power to direct or influence employees (or attempt to) in the carrying out of their day-to-day activities.

If you are contacted by a Council Member you must:

- politely remind them that you are not permitted to speak with them or take instruction from them.
- ask them to contact the CEO or Executive Assistant instead of you.
- report the contact to the CEO immediately.

You must not do anything on instruction from a Council Member.

YOUR OBLIGATION: CONFLICT OF INTEREST

You are required to ensure that if you do have an interest or an interest that could reasonably be perceived as a conflict of interest that you disclose that interest.

A conflict of interest is a situation where you have a personal or financial interest with another party that may impact your role or decision-making ability for the Town.

A conflict can arise from several sources, including friends, relatives, close associates, financial investments, personal circumstances, memberships and associations, affiliations and/or past employment.

For example, if you:

- have an interest in any matter to be discussed at a Council or Committee meeting upon which you are giving advice or comment;
- have a personal connection or association with a potential or actual contractor, supplier or consultant;

you are required to disclose the nature of the interest to the CEO in writing. If you are unsure you should always check with your Director as to how best to proceed.

Ask yourself these 6 questions when assessing whether you have an interest to disclosure

1. Public duty versus private interest- Do I have a personal or private interest that may conflict with my public duty?
2. Potential- Could there be a benefits for me now or in the future that could cast doubt on my objectivity?
3. Perception- How will my involvement in the decision or action be viewed by others? Are there risks associated for me or the Town?
4. Proportion – Does my involvement in the decision appear fair and reasonable in all the circumstances?
5. Presence of Mind- What are the consequences if I ignore a conflict or interest? What if my involvement was questioned publicly?
6. Promises- Have I made any promises or commitments in relation to the matter? Do I stand to gain or lose from the proposed act or decision?

If you are not sure if you have a conflict of interest, discuss the matter with your Director.

Employees who have been delegated powers from the CEO or Council are legally required to complete specific documentation including a Primary Return, Annual Return and Related Party Disclosure.

The Town has an approved Record Keeping Plan that ensures compliance with the State Records Act. You must ensure that:

- Information is accurately recorded.

A "gift" means a conferral of a financial benefit (including a disposition of property) made by one person in favour of another person unless adequate consideration in money or money's worth passes from the person in whose favour the conferral is made to the person who makes the conferral; or a travel contribution.

A gift for example includes a coffee, an invitation to an event, discounts on good or services.

Regardless of the value of a gift, you should always consider whether it is appropriate or what the perception may be in accepting a gift.

You should ask yourself before accepting any gift:

- What would you tell others to do? What advice would you give?
- Do you feel comfortable with your decision or do you feel uneasy?
- Is this in conflict with your own personal values?
- How would you feel if this became public knowledge?
